

WOULD YOU RATHER

part with a TOOTH, or with an EYE?

Does that seem a silly question? Yet anyone would think that most people care more for their teeth than for their eyes. They certainly give them more attention and consideration.

You go, or should go, to the dentist at least every six months to be sure that your teeth are all right. (Some people wait for a tooth-ache to remind them.)

Have you ever been to an oculist to have your eyes examined? Are they "bothering" you now?

ADDRESS BY FREAR

which was then carried back to the top of the cliff by the same route.

When Kamehameha discovered this, it was all up with Kahakili, and one of the most famous sieges in ancient or modern times ended with the destruction of the courageous garrison.

Later in the morning Governor Frear and the other members of the administration attended the Hana church service and listened to a sermon in Hawaiian by the pastor, the Rev. L. B. Kumeheili, and then at the close of the service the Governor made a short address to the large congregation gathered to hear him. His remarks were interpreted by District Magistrate L. K. Kakanii.

The Governor's address was of a practical kind and aimed at the Hawaiians as a people. After remarking at some length on the imposing natural beauties of Hana and its environs which he said should be calculated to develop the superior qualities of a people so that it would seem as though the handsomely uniformed police officers of Hana, a judge, courthouse, etc., would be superfluous, he touched on the economic history of the Territory, and drew attention to the progress and prosperity which attended the people of the various islands, whenever they were under the rule of humane and intelligent kings or rulers. This was pointed out by the Governor with broad-brimmed hat and cane, and he drew a picture of a bright future for the Territory with the rapid increase of Pacific ocean traffic, with millions of dollars to be spent by the federal government for fortifications, harbor improvements, lighthouses, etc.

But he emphasized the necessity of the Hawaiians working for good government, and their recognition of the fact that upon the interest and integrity of each voter, working in harmony for good ends, with all the rest, depends the character of government which they will have. Good men must be elected for office: men who think of other things than remuneration for themselves or their friends.

The speech was amply illustrated all the way through, and appeared to be understood and appreciated. At its close almost everybody in the church crowded up in front to shake hands with the Governor before leaving.

All Sunday afternoon was spent in the saddle and some fifteen miles were covered in a trip to Waialua Gulch and back. The ride started in a heavy rain, but the clouds cleared within an hour and the remainder of the day was very pleasant.

Aside from the higher slopes of mountain land, which is principally forest reserve, the Territory owns little land in this part of the Coast. Waialua Gulch, the end of the road and the end of the ride is all owned by the Territory, but its chief value is in its splendid water supply, which however is under lease by the Kaeleku Plantation at Maul, to which the waters are carried by flume and ditch. The scenery of the Gulch is especially beautiful and vegetation on the small benches and slopes is at its most luxuriant. Elsewhere between Hana and this point, the rainfall is deficient and the country is rough and not especially attractive.

A large acreage of the lands formerly under cultivation for cane by the Hamoa Plantation Company, is now abandoned to lantana and guava. This lies a few miles outside of Hana

IN CONTEMPT

Deputy Attorney General W. L. Whitney was adjudged guilty of contempt of court yesterday afternoon for failing to comply with an order made by the late Judge Gear before Judge Lindsay, in reference to some money belonging to C. Bolte and in answer to a hearing today at two o'clock before Judge Lindsay, to see why the order should not be signed adjudging him in contempt. Whitney is represented by A. G. M. Robertson.

LEPROSARIUM CONTRACT.
The bids for the supplying of lumber, shingles, etc., for the construction of the Leprosarium at Molokai were opened last Monday, and the contract for the work went to the City Mill Company, whose bid was $11,099.50, the goods to be delivered on or about May 15.

from Kahului for Hilo.

C. A. S. S. Moana reached Vancouver yesterday from Honolulu.

Bark George Curtis, Captain Herbert, at 8 o'clock this morning sailed for San Francisco with a load of sugar, 3000 tons. She has been here a little less than a month, having arrived on February 13. Former Mate Cameron of the lost Eclipse went as her second officer and he who was carpenter of the Eclipse is now aboard the Curtis in that capacity.

Ship Astral will probably stop at Hilo. She is taking on sugar for stiffening at the railway wharf.

HARMON ACQUITTED.

Mormon Elder Melvin M. Harmon was yesterday afternoon in Federal Court acquitted of subornation of perjury in the George Kekauoha-Kalehua Edmunds Act case. The jury cast but one ballot and returned, after retiring to consider their verdict, within little over five minutes with a finding of "not guilty." Attorneys W. A. Kinney and W. S. Edings represented the defendant and Assistant District Attorney W. T. Rawlins conducted the prosecution. The jurors were W. G. Ashley, Eugene K. Allen, George Fera, Luther Severance, E. S. Cunha, C. C. Kennedy, W. R. Chilton, J. F. Colburn, R. E. Mist, W. P. Roth, J. W. Robertson and James Wakefield.

On the road to Waialua. It is said to be rather poor cane land, and that the water supply is insufficient for its proper irrigation.

A portion of this section, however, is government land, and the possibility that some effort may be made to acquire it and put it under cultivation, by the Kaeleku Company or some other, was the chief reason why the Governor wished to have a look at it.

At 6:30 o'clock tomorrow morning the party starts on horseback for Waialua on the windward side of the island, stopping Monday night at Keanae, and finishing the trip on Tuesday. W. J. COOPER.

HAWAII AND ITS DEFENSE

(Editorial, Washington Post.)

Congress has shown very clearly that it does not intend to do anything remarkable at this session, if it can help itself. It will go up to June 1 as quietly and uneventfully as it can. There will be no legislation on new and experimental lines if the leaders can avoid it. Perhaps, under the circumstances, this course is wise.

There is one item, however, which Congress could consider and dispose of without venturing into untried experiments. By the exercise of foresight and prudence in this matter, this session of Congress might be remembered hereafter as not entirely barren of good fruit. The defense of Hawaii is a subject that needs careful attention and prompt action. It is one that need not arouse party differences. It does not mean that enormous sums of public money would be involved. It would not call for the creation of new offices or new machinery. There is nothing novel in the subject for Congress to talk at. There is no open door to extravagance or graft in the plan to make Hawaii safe.

The Post has reason to believe that the President knows whereof he speaks when he urges the early fortification of Hawaii. The knowledge he possesses has not been made public, and need not be. The palpable facts speak for themselves. Hawaii could not be more fortunately situated as a base for a naval enemy of the United States. It is a stepping stone to the Pacific Coast, from Panama to the tail of the Aleutians. From Hawaii a strong and watchful enemy could keep the army and navy of the United States busy, almost to the neglect of other coasts of this country. Hawaii is so obviously the key to the Pacific Coast that its seizure in its present unprotected state would be the first news following a declaration of war—and it might fall before war was declared, if recent history teaches anything.

With Hawaii properly fortified, and with a naval force to co-operate with the land defenses, the United States could laugh at the attempt of any power, except England, to batter the Pacific Coast. The countries to the south are without ships. European powers have no near-by bases. Oriental fleets could not make the round trip across the Pacific without recoiling. England would recapture Esquimaux in case of war, and would be as comfortably fixed as the United States itself. But with this exception, no power could harm the western coast of the United States if Hawaii were kept from its grasp.

Since Hawaii is a part of the United States that cannot be alienated, it must be protected from attack. If it were taken, this country would have to fight for it to the last ditch. In our hands, it is a mighty weapon of defense. In other hands, it could be used with terrible effect against us. As an integral part of the United States it ought to be protected. As an outpost liable to seizure, it must be made safe at any cost.

THE LEPER LAW BEING TESTED

TWO SUSPECTS IN COURT THIS MORNING AS RESULT OF HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS.

Anamalia Maunakea and Mary Kaimakaha the two lepers who have been confined in the receiving station at Kailhi for some time were in Judge Lindsay's court this morning, in answer to the writs of habeas corpus which had been made in their behalf by C. W. Ashford.

President Pinkham was represented by Attorney General Hemenway, while Dr. and Mrs. Atcherley were on hand to comfort the two unfortunates. On motion of both the Attorney General and C. W. Ashford the matter was continued until next Tuesday morning at 9:30, and in the mean time the two were sent back to be kept at the receiving station.

Mrs. Atcherley after the cases were over stated that if the doctor, meaning her husband, was allowed to continue the treatment which she admitted was the famous Wallach cure, the patients would be able to be around in a short time, but as the President of the Board of Health had refused her husband permission to treat them in the Kailhi receiving station she supposed that they would get worse instead of better.

After a little while both she and the doctor went over to the office of the Attorney General and were, with him for some time.

JAPANESE LEPERS TO GO

THE KASADO MARU WILL PROBABLY TAKE THEM ALL FROM MOLOKAI.

The seven Japanese lepers who have been at Molokai will probably be sent home on Sunday by the Japanese steamer Kasado Maru which arrived here the other day from Chile.

The Japanese Consul called at the executive offices this morning to see what arrangements had been made for the transportation of the lepers from Molokai.

He was assured that everything would be carried out to the minutest detail, and that the lepers would be landed here safely.

A. L. C. Atkinson is representing a committee of Japanese who are looking out for their countrymen who are to be sent home for treatment, Japan having decided some time ago that she would take care of her own lepers.

Governor Frear before he left for Maui, made all the necessary arrangements with the Board of Health and the Japanese Government for the transfer of the Japanese patients who are at present on Molokai.

All of the Japanese lepers want to go. The statement that three or four did not, is an error.

TAKE A TRIP WITH BONINE AND HOLMES

If you would like to take a little trip into the mainland and then down into the region of the Panama Canal, go to the Opera House Thursday and Friday nights and see the exhibition of the finest moving pictures ever thrown on a screen. Burton Holmes, the world famous traveler and lecturer, will be on the stage to announce the subjects and say a few words about Hawaii and the places shown.

There are few if any seats left for the exhibition on Thursday night and for that reason the management has yielded to the tremendous demand for them and will give a second exhibition on Friday night. This will enable hundreds of school children to see the beautiful pictures and learn what Uncle Sam is doing to bring the Eastern cities nearer Hawaii by means of the Panama canal.

The exhibition on Friday night will be the same as that on Thursday except for the added pictures that will be thrown on the screen. Mr. Holmes will be on the stage both nights. Those who were disappointed in not getting seats for the first entertainment should be on hand at Wall, Nichols Co., for the second. The seats are now on sale and the first to call will secure the best. They will be sold for 25, 50 and 75 cents.

THE PLACE TO VISIT.
